10 tips

for healthy hair

1 Moderate washing

Don't over-wash your hair, 2-3 times a week is enough for most people. Washing your hair too often strips away the hair's natural oils.

2 The right shampoo for your type

Every hair is different. One for oily, another for dry, dyed or thin hair. The wrong product tires the hair and scalp. For the right products, consult your hairdresser.

3 Conditioner only on the lengths

Never at the roots. Except for specialized ones that give volume. The conditioner nourishes and protects the lengths without weighing them down or making them greasy.

4 Use heat sparingly

Blow dryer, straightener and scissors only with heat protection and not daily. Heat is the No. 1 enemy of hair.

5 No violent brushing

Always start from the ends and work your way up. Never brush vigorously on wet hair.

6 Regular haircut

Every 4-8 weeks even a little. The ends that "break" spoil the entire length over time.

7 Be careful with dyes & chemical work

No exaggerations and no experiments at home. The right techniques and quality products make a huge difference.

8 Hair mask = Ritual

1-2 times a week, depending on the needs of the hair. The mask is the "food" of the hair.

9 Nutrition, Water & Hair Care

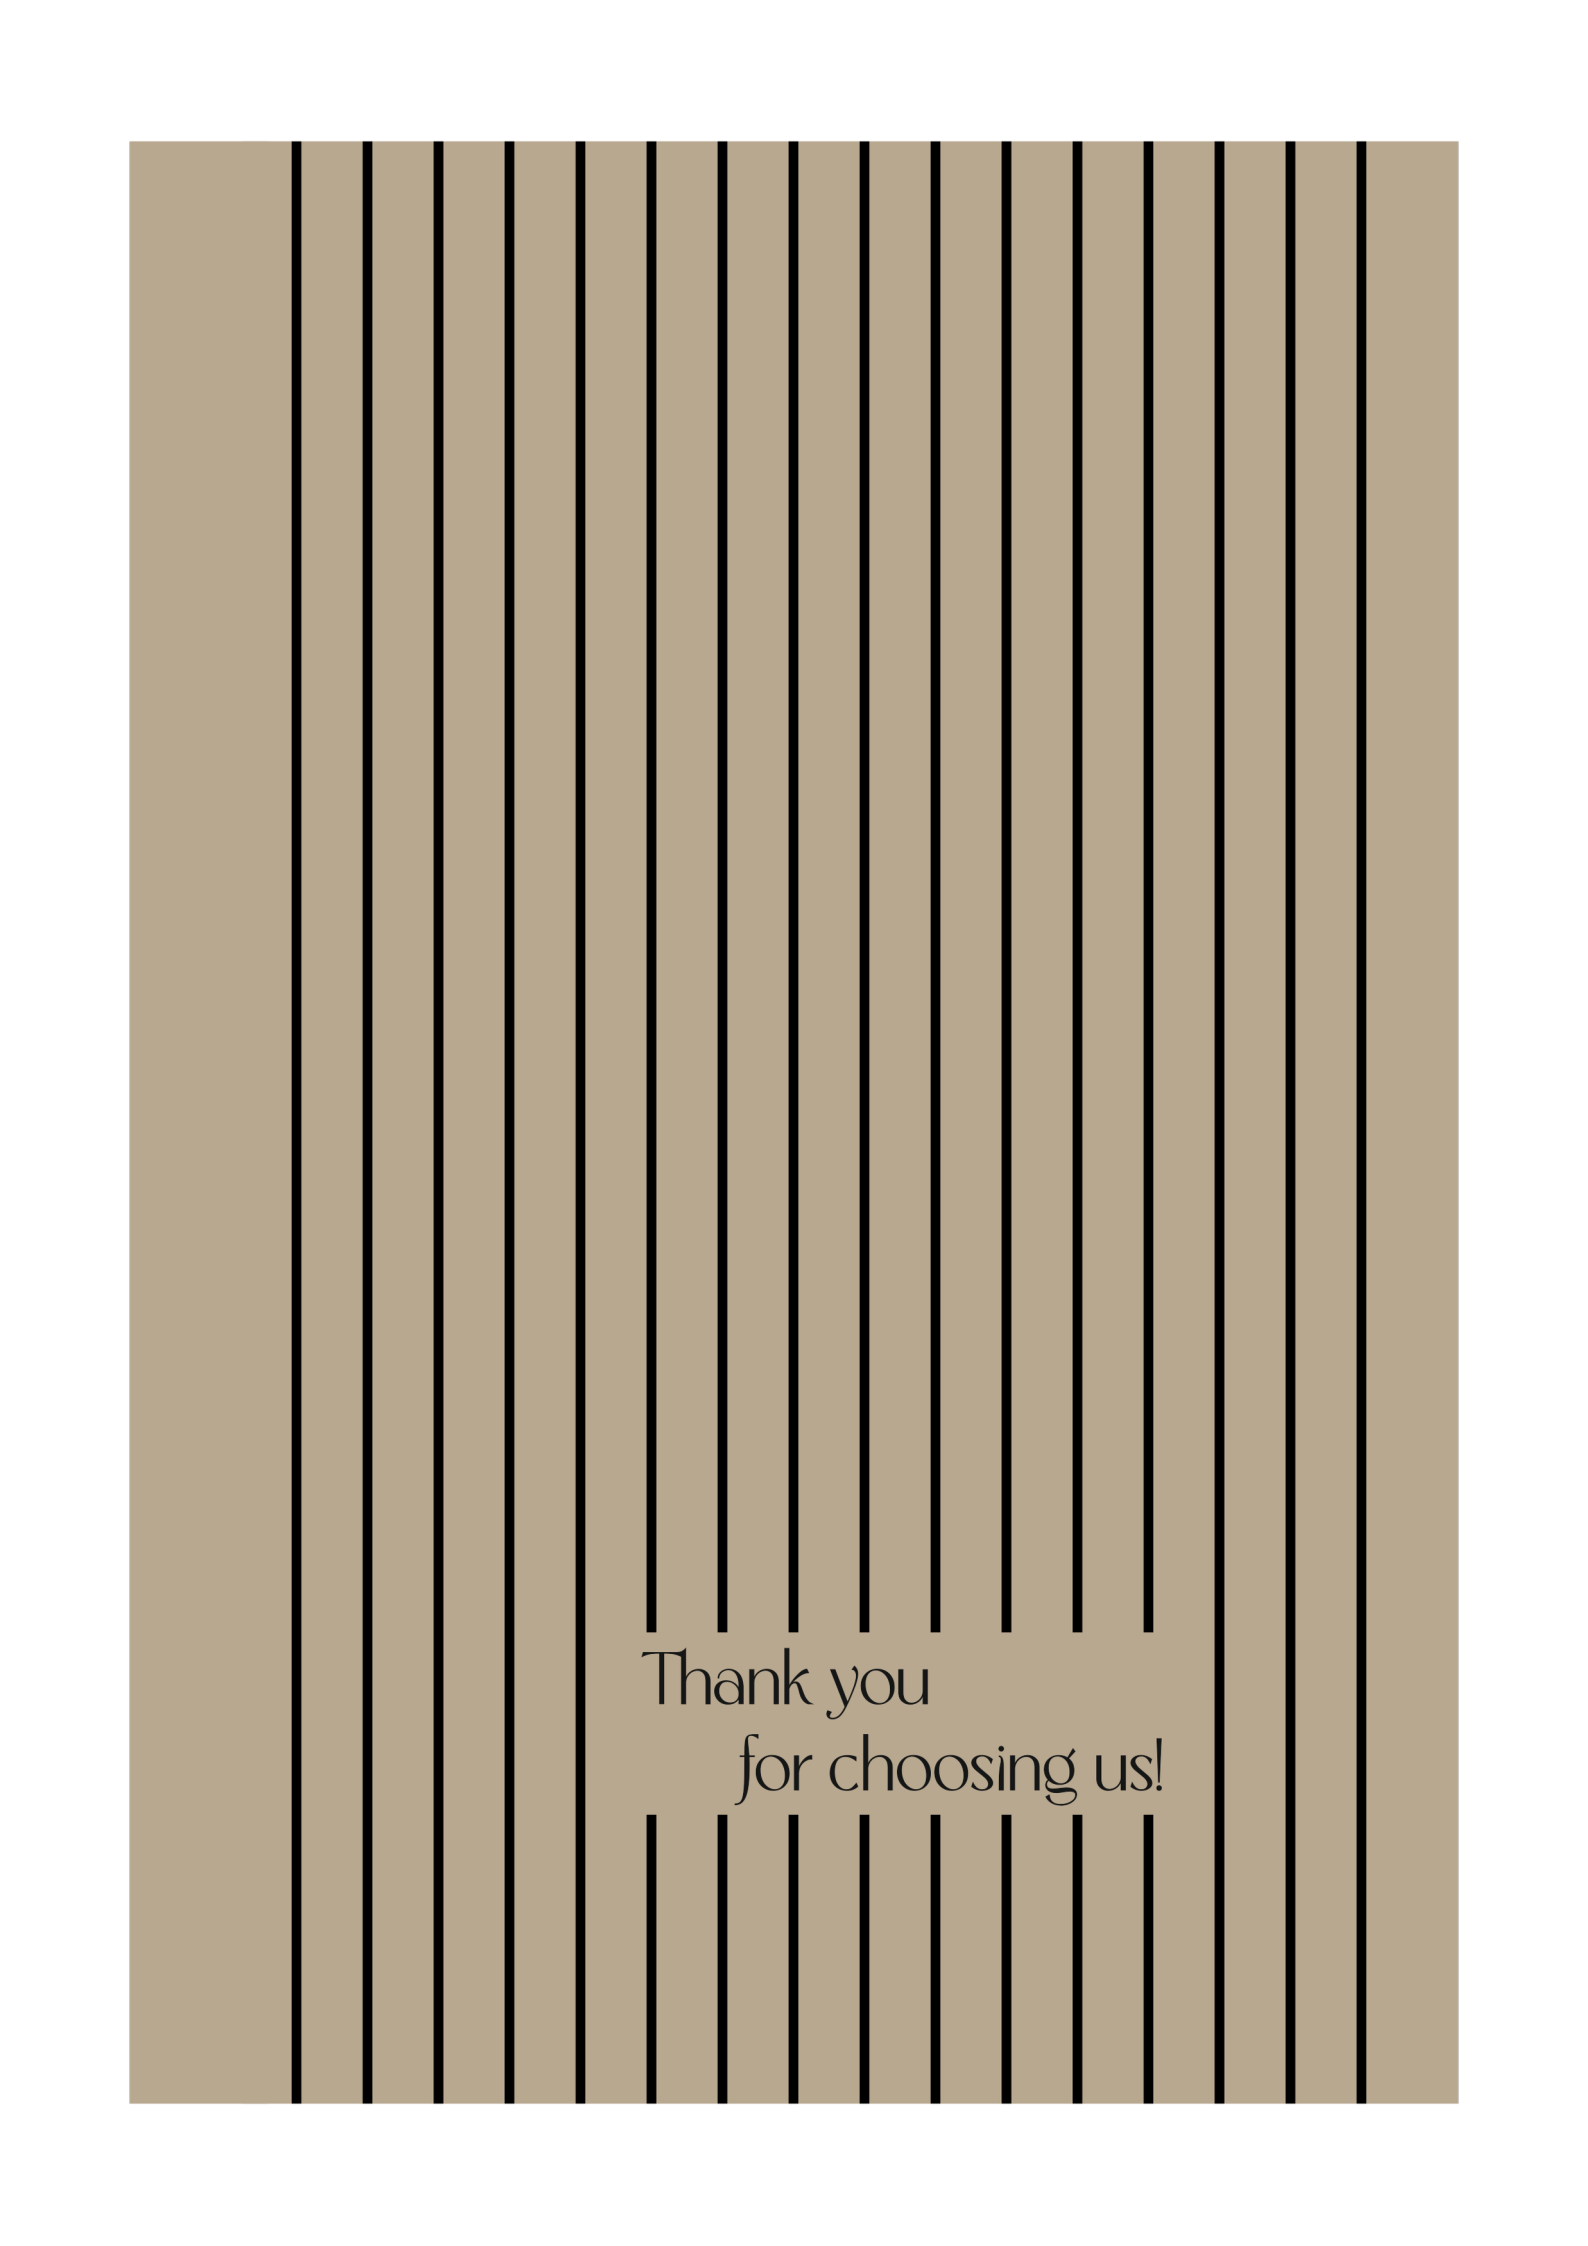

Healthy hair starts from within: proper nutrition, sufficient water, vitamins and trace elements. For even better results, after each shampoo, apply a few drops of strengthening "vitamins" to the scalp and massage lightly. It helps circulation, strengthens the root, gives healthier and shinier hair.

10 Listen to your hairdresser.

He sees the hair up close, knows its history and can prevent damage before it becomes a problem.

Tip Bonus

Hair doesn't need excesses - it needs consistent, proper care.
